Hundreds Die In Mass Ritual

November 1978, Guyana
South America

It all occurred in Jonestown, a religious settlement named after its founder, the Rev. Jim Jones of San Francisco, California. Jones, a former Indiana resident started the People's Temple back in the 1950's in Indianapolis before being investigated for improper business procedures. He then moved the headquarters to San Francisco before starting the Jonestown settlement in Guyana.

Leo Ryan, congressman from Calif. along with three journalists were at Jonestown investigating the report that people were being held against their wills. While at the settlement reports were made that Ryan was threatened and was ordered to leave by Jones and some followers.

Then on November 18 while preparing to board a plane back to the states, a flat-bed truck sped up to the plane and opened fire killing Ryan and four others.

As news spread to Jonestown, panic also spread. Jones gathered his followers together for the last time. All were instructed to drink from the iron pots placed nearby containing a mixture of Kool-Aid and poison. Those who tried to escape were shot. Total dead: 912.

World's First Test Tube Baby

July 25, 1978
Oldham, England

Louise Brown, the world's first test tube baby was born on July 25, 1978 to Gilbert and Leslie Brown.

With the arrival of Louise, the battle on the morals of test tube babies was re-born, as protesters stirred the embers of arguments past.

Shortly after Louise's birth, other alleged "test tube" babies sprang up as other countries grabbed at the chance of having the first test tube baby.

The Gas War Is Over! Gas Won!!

May, 1979

California, largest consumer of the United States' gasoline supply was hit first and hardest in what some feel is the last battle with oil supplies. While gas rationing plans were put into action, tension mounted all over the country as Americans waited to see who would be hit next. Rumors of $1.00 a gallon for gasoline became a reality as prices soared in order to curtail consumption. Pres. Carter became enraged as Congress denounced his gas rationing plan for the entire country, while he lifted controls on oil companies.

Traffic jams and long lines were just a few of the problems faced by California drivers. In Indiana, a four day voluntary gas station close down was initiated to slow down Hoosier consumption along with high prices. Some stations charged up to $1.19 for unleaded as Americans dug down farther into their pockets to quench their unquenchable desire for gasoline. Where will it all end.

Worst U.S. Air Disaster In History

September 25, 1978
San Diego, California

The crew of a Pacific Southwest Airlines 727 jet airliner lost sight of a small twin-engine Cessna plane before colliding in a mid-air collision making it the worst air disaster in U.S. aviation history. 144 people died in this fiery crash over San Diego, California while the 727 received air instructions from radar traffic controllers at Linderbergh Field in San Diego.

Some experts feel a third plane was involved, a single engine aircraft which apparently landed safely at the air field. This crash caused aviation experts to review safety standards in U.S. airways.

Close Call In Pennsylvania

Three Mile Island
Nuclear Plant
March 28, 1979

The worst U.S. nuclear disaster occurred in March 1979 at the Three Mile Island Nuclear Plant in Pennsylvania. A melt down of the reactors core was avoided though as nuclear physicists from all over the world helped out in the five day crisis.

The accident began as a slight rumble in the night which set off a chain of mechanical and human failures. When a valve posed an excessive heat buildup in the reactor, the plant automatically shut off its reaction, and started cooling itself down. Then the unthinkable happened; somehow anywhere from one-fourth to one-half of the reactors 177 fuel rods were damaged leaking an excessive amount of radiation into the cooling water around them. Then the radioactive water was transferred to an auxiliary building where it turned into steam and was released into the atmosphere. Finally a large bubble of hydrogen gas formed in the top of the sealed reactor vessel posing the threat of a meltdown.

Mass evacuation plans were discussed by officials involving a ten to twenty mile radius around the plant. Its estimated that 50,000 to 60,000 people left their homes on their own as no organized mass evacuation was put into effect. The threat of chromosome damage due to radiation caused the evacuation of pregnant women and small children until the all clear sign was given.

This near miss caused the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to review safety standards in nuclear power plants and thus halted the already slow process of building these plants until all safety aspects in designs can be reviewed.

Peace Between Egypt And Israel — Dream Come True!?!

March 26, 1979

With steady hands, Anwar Sadat of Egypt, Jimmy Carter of the United States and Menachem Begin of Israel signed a peace treaty in Washington ending a generation of fighting between Arabs and Jews.

The new peace agreement calls for Israeli forces to withdraw from the Sinai Peninsula plus Egyptian forces to withdraw from the Gaza Strip. If all goes on schedule consisting of a nine month period, Egypt and Israel will exchange ambassadors a month later.

Tornadoes Rip Thru Texas And Oklahoma

April 10, 1979

More than 55 people were killed and 800 injured in what was described as one of the most damaging tornadoes in U.S. history. The tornadoes ripped through what is known as "Tornado Alley", a border strip between Texas and Oklahoma.

Hardest hit was the community of Wichita Falls, Texas as 44 people were killed and hundreds were injured. In fifteen minutes, an eight mile path of destruction was left running the entire length of the city's south side. Damage was estimated at more than $204 million.

Defensive Driving

While most high school students are enjoying their summer vacation, some students come back to school in June to attend Drivers Education. The six week program involves four weeks of intense class room work and two weeks of actual driving. In the classroom, students are introduced to the rules of the road and are taught a little about how the car actually works. During the four week period, a member of the state police force comes in to answer any questions which might arise about the laws in Indiana and to caution students about the penalties for wrong doings.

In the driving part of the six weeks, students are picked up at their homes each morning by the instructor before their two hour driving session. During these sessions, drivers are exposed to city and country driving as well as parking and proper turning habits.

After the six weeks, drivers are tested one at a time on their driving skills. Here students are tested on parking, braking, backing, and proper safety habits.

Guys And Dolls

For the annual musical, the High School choir presented "Guys & Dolls" in their 1978-79 season. This story is about Sky Masterson (Todd Kaiser), a big-time gambler, Sarah (Lori Trowbridge), a girl from the local Salvation Army and their romance. Also, there is Nathan Detroit (Dan Beatty), operator of the city's floating crap-game and Adelaide, a Hot Box girl who is trying to get Nathan to marry her.

What Do You Do On Your Weekends?

Do You . . . Work On your Car?

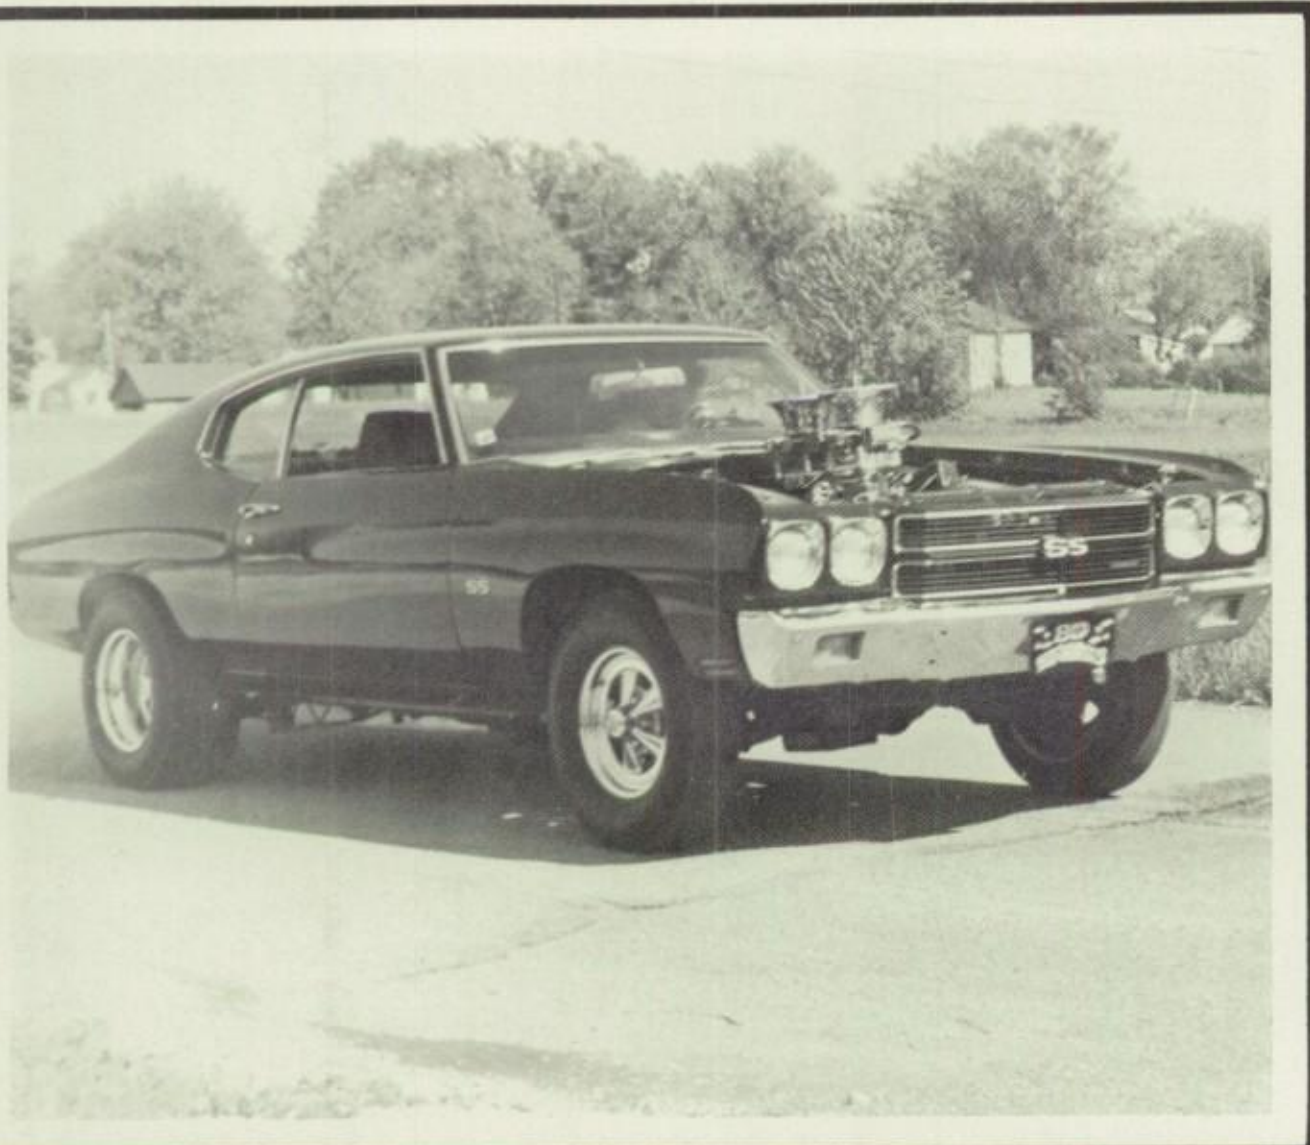

For most students a car stands for a way to escape, a means of getting away from it all and a sign of prestige. But to some students, a car means a whole lot more, it's their life.

Jeff Fites and Bill Morris are two of these students. They spend hundreds of dollars every year on their cars and keep them in perfect order. Any of their spare time is devoted to their cars as many hours are spent each week making sure nothing will go wrong.

A Big Triton Welcome To . . .

Miss Indiana of 1978, Terry Kaiser came "home" to Triton High School January 5, 1979. This native of Etna Green, shown right, presented her home school fans with slides of her experience in the Miss America competition and offered to answer questions.

This assembly was just one of the many presentations by the Student Council to break up the hum-drum of school. Other assemblies included

John Daniel Tate singing with the main theme of "Be Yourself," Professor Gizmo, the talented musician who played everything from a nose-flute to a washboard, Floyd Fithian talked on our government, "Dimensions in Brass" filled the auditorium with a variety of songs.

The Student Council also provided many laughs in one of the final pep sessions with their version of "Across the Field."

One of the most important organizations in a school is the student council. Basically, the Student Council is the voice of the students. If there is a problem within the student body, it is the job of the Council to negotiate with the administration and work it out. The Student Council is the one who plans the assemblies, organizes Mini Courses, and sponsors the annual Mini 500. They hold dances and sell paperback books, specifically the Jr. High Student Council Book Sale. But the Student Council does not restrict themselves to within the Triton School Corporation. This year, four Student Council members — Wade Kreft, Terry Sell, Jan Mason, and Jeff Kauffman were involved in a swap with Plymouth High School and in turn, some of Plymouth's Council members came to Triton.

This year, the Student Council played an important part in the North Central evaluation of Triton. Not only did the administration, staff, and teachers have to be on their toes but also the Student Council in representing the student body.

Hittin' The Books

One of the biggest assets of a student is study or in other words, "the application of the mental faculties to the acquisition of knowledge." It sounds hard but the students at Triton have each found an unique way to study.

Most students have included in their schedule a study hall. They can have one or more periods of supposedly quiet where they can study for a test, work on homework, or just read.

For those who don't have a study hall or need more study time, it's grab a few minutes here and there.

Newly installed benches in the halls provide a comfortable place to sit and study. During lunch, many students can be found in the cafeteria, studying while they eat. As the weather warms up, many go outside in the sun, either around the building or in the courtyard. But no matter how inventive students are in finding a place to study, the most popular of all is still a classroom.

Culture Shock

With more people traveling to other countries all the time, many are realizing the value of learning at least one foreign language. Triton's foreign language department offers both Spanish and French.

However, languages aren't the only thing taught in this department. The students also learn about the people, cultures and traditions of the other countries. Some of the aids that are used to teach these things are movies, and books. When things occasionally get boring, there are always Mr. Gould's stories about countries he has visited. These things help the students to appreciate cultures other than their own.

Something that is required of all of the students is a project every six weeks. These projects range from book reports to bulletin boards, but a favorite is cooking. The students can prepare any dish from a country of the language they are studying. Although there is an occasional soggy taco or burned crepe most of the projects turn out very well.

Creativity In Action

There are many talented students at Triton and our art department gives many of them a chance to express this talent. There are many areas of art that are available so almost everyone can find something that they enjoy.

If the words "greenware", "glaze", and "kiln" sound interesting to you, you might consider taking ceramics. Other classes available include, oil painting, color design, and drawing.

The art department has a new teacher this year, Miss Roberts. She lives in Warsaw and is a graduate of Ball State University. One of her goals this year is to help the students achieve enough ability in art to enjoy it as a hobby even though they may not choose to pursue it as a career.

Choir Keeps Busy

The high school choir had a very busy year in 1979. Among their yearly projects including the musical, Guys and Dolls — November 17-18, (see p.p. 6) and the choir banquet on May 5 at the M. and M. Restaurant in North Webster, and the annual Christmas Concert — December 15, the choir also went on tour, April 5, to Miller's Merry Manor in Warsaw, and Shady Rest Home in Plymouth.

Involvement in NISBOVA Solo and Ensemble contests also kept jr. high and high school choir members busy as did competition at the state level for group I entries.

Strike Up The Band

For those of you who were not involved in the 1978-79 Triton Band program, we've come up with this short quiz to see just how much you know about your high school band. Just circle the correct response. A sample has been done for you.

Sample: What is a FrenchHorn?

- a.) A tasty pastry
- b.) A help for putting on shoes
- c.) a musical instrument

1. What popular song is known as Triton's school song?

- a.) "Ease on Down the Road"
- b.) "How Deep is Your Love"
- c.) "Across the Field"

2. What is the name of the small jazz band composed of Triton high school band members?

- a.) Sonata 46
- b.) Opus I
- c.) Fugue 89

3. Who served as Drum Major during the 1978 summer band program and football season?

- a.) Hubert Humphrey
- b.) Richard Nixon
- c.) Jayne Coplen

4. What Triton High School band member was nominated for the McDonald's All-American High School Band?

- a.) Brian Piccallo
- b.) John Philip Sousa
- c.) Lisa Moore

correct answers: c, b, c, c, c

More Than Just Notes

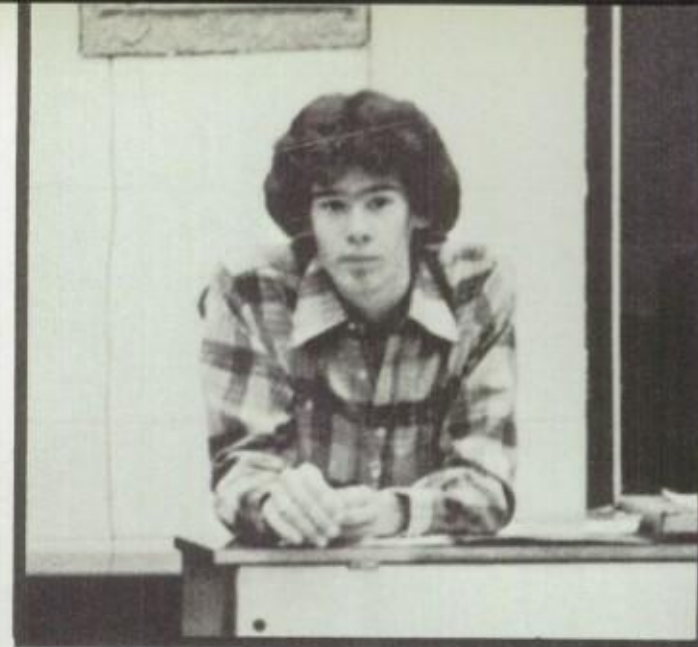

Music is more than just notes. It's a way an author, or composer, can express his or her feelings in song and lyrics. Some of the most famous composers of the eighteenth century were Bach, Beethoven and Mozart. These men were famous for their great accomplishments in symphony, opera and church music.

Today's sound is geared toward fast disco beats illustrated by such music as, "Saturday Night Fever," the rock version of "The Fifth of Beethoven," "Le Freak" and "Cat Scratch Fever," to name just a few.

People's taste in music differ. Some go for the classical sound, others like country and western, jazz, rock-n-roll or easy listening.

Here at Triton, music is being studied by the seventh grade, eighth grade and some high school students. The high school students who take Music Theory have found it rewarding. Music Theory is taught to those students who want to enrich their musical ability. The students write music, songs and lyrics. These are graded for items such as harmony, rhythm, tempo and melody. Mr. Dowdy, the instructor, is the first to admit that this class isn't easy but he thinks that the students find it rewarding.

Is Math Essential?

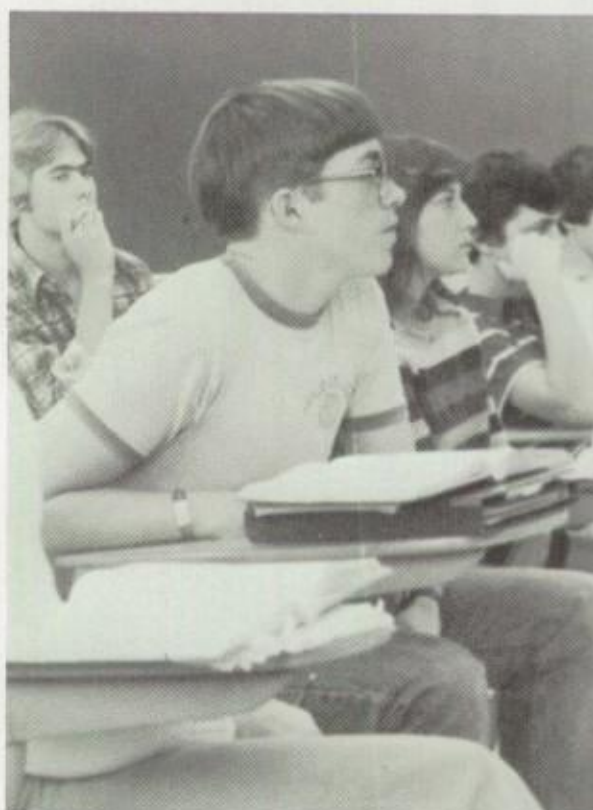

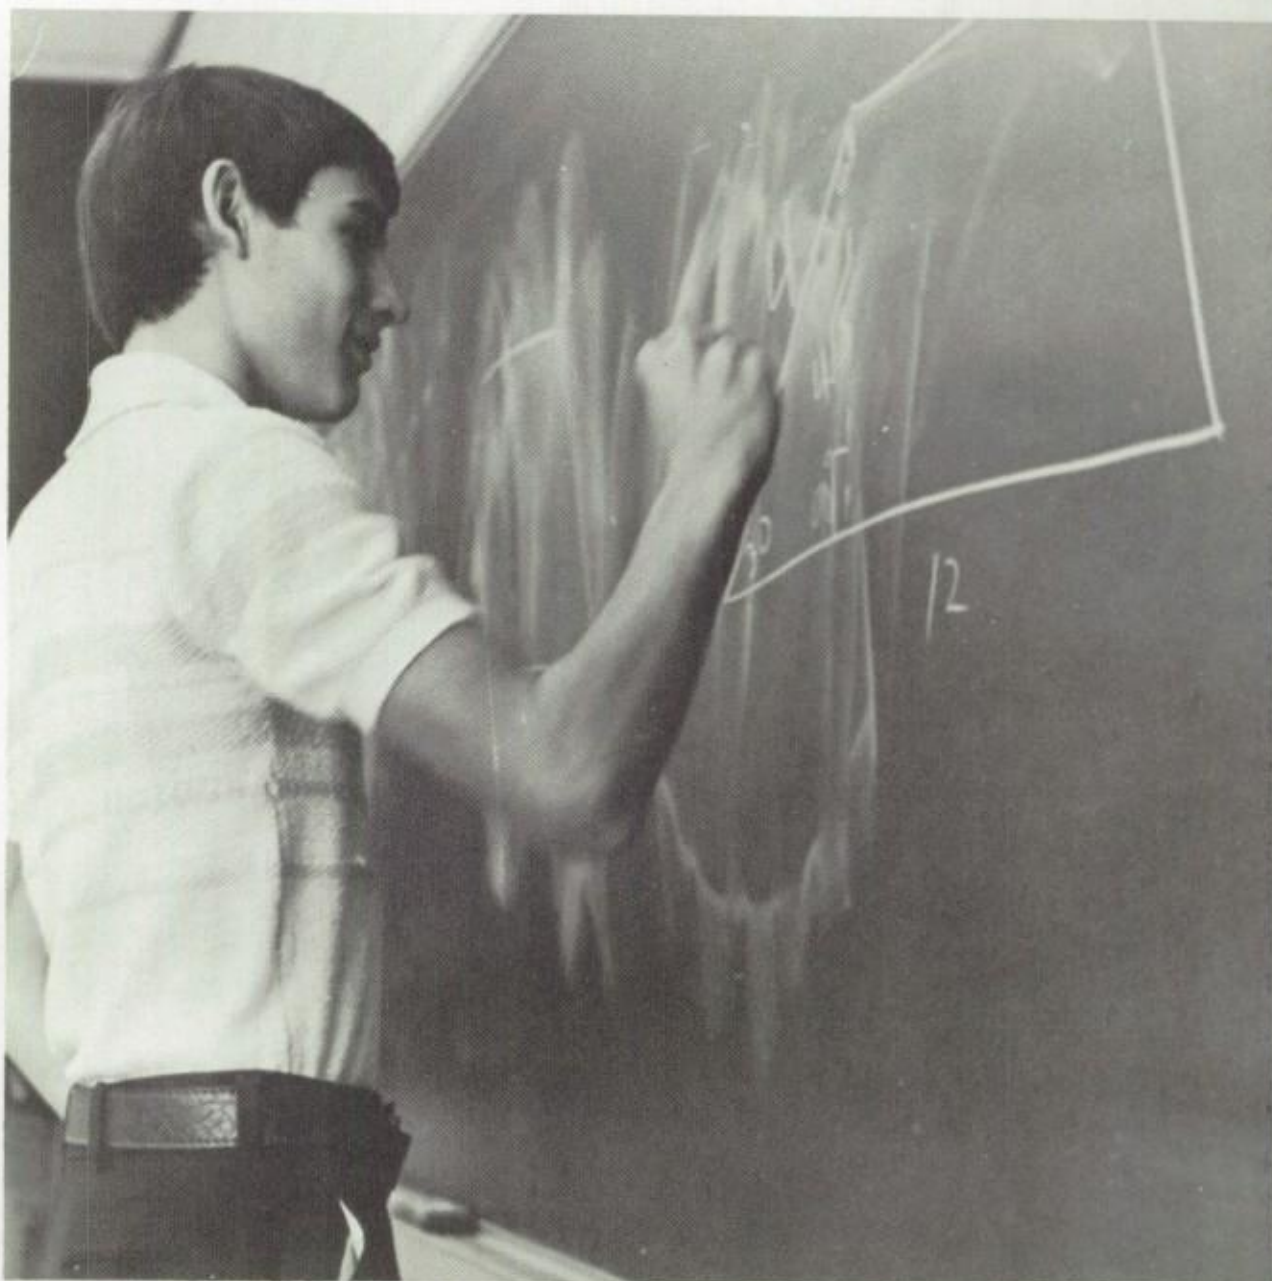

Although many students don't realize it, math is an essential part of society. Triton's math department does a good job teaching it's students the basic skills they will need.

Pre-Algebra consists of three semesters of Algebra followed by three semesters of Geometry. This class is designed for students who want to take more time developing their math ability.

For the student who is more adept in math, Algebra covers everything from sets and subsets to quadratics.

Many sophomores take Geometry and learn about proofs. As one student says "The proofs aren't bad, it's drawing the pictures that's hard." Once a student has mastered Algebra I and Geometry, he can go into Algebra II. This class studies the more complicated aspects of math such as equations and trigonometry.

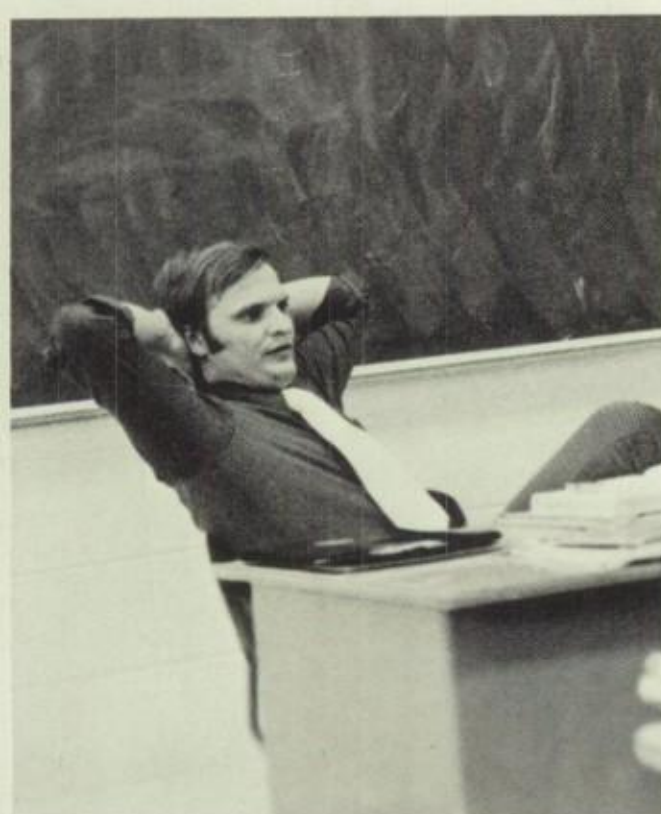

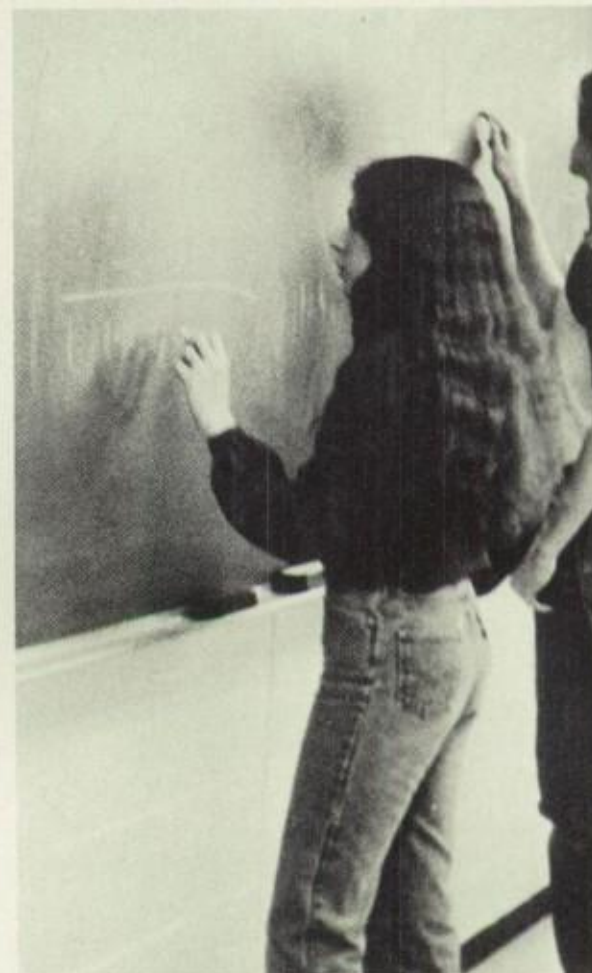

"It's really interesting, and it really helps you a lot." This is what Julie Deaton has to say about Business Math. This class teaches some very practical uses of math. Students learn how to keep a checking account and how to figure taxes among other things.

High School Chemists

Among the beakers, flasks and bunsen burners, you will find the chemist. The chemist diligently works to improve formulas, strengthen fibers, and discover new wonders. His lab is well organized and everything imaginable is at his disposal for, a good chemist is always prepared. Among the fragments of broken beakers, flasks and test tubes you find the high school chemist. The high school chemist diligently works to complete his lab before the period is over. He is constantly trying to improve his grade. His lab drawer is a mess, cluttered with used paper towels, and discarded waste from the last lab, (finished in the nick of time). The materials needed are never at his disposal for he shares with 19 other students who are also rushing to finish in time. In short, a high school chemist is rarely prepared.

Lower Left: Mark Gebert still finds time to talk while finishing his lab. Right: Mary Alice Grossman compares her readings with Dan Doty.

Scientific Exploration

Many of today's inventions have been achieved through science. Triton's science department is teaching it's students the value of learning something about the world that we are living in.

Earth science is a popular class among the freshmen as well as the older students who take it. One of the aids that this course uses is the planetarium. Our planetarium is unique for this area and the earth science classes put it to good use.

Many sophomores take biology. This class teaches about plant and animal life. One of the more interesting things that this class does every year is dissect frogs. Many students feel a bit squeamish but they all learn something from the experience.

Tomorrow's Technicians

Science and technology are really two good reasons for majoring in Industrial Arts, or Agriculture at Triton. Both departments provide up to date information and skills, in an area of increasing demand in the world today.

The skilled technician is a vanishing breed in America today. Ayn Rand deftly put it in her book "Atlas Shrugged". One day the people behind the push button will disappear leaving behind the chaos of a public incapable of helping itself.

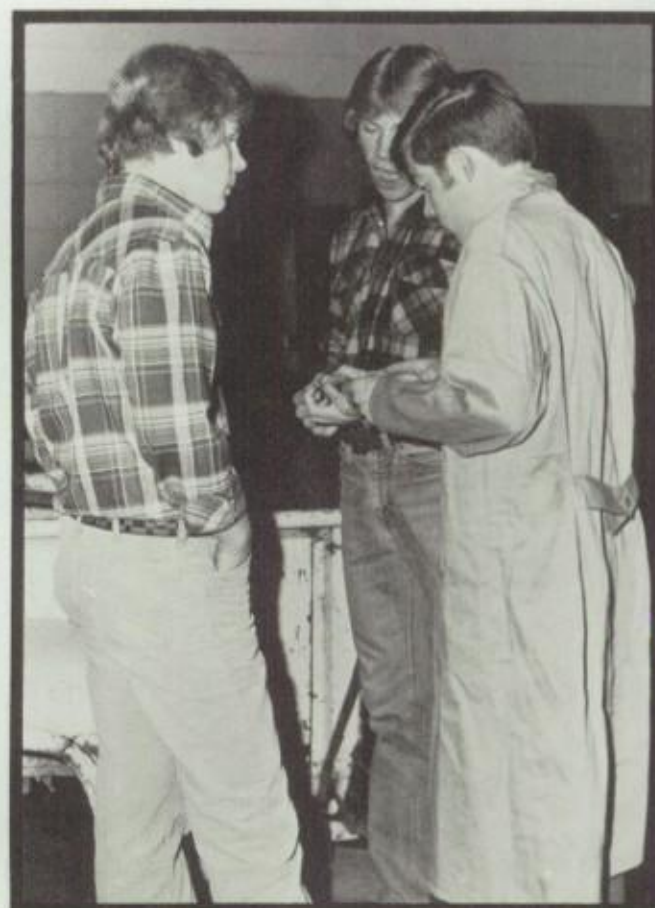

Anyone who has witnessed the increase in land value and other necessary items of the modern farmer will realize that farming is now "Big Business". In order to stretch the capacity of the average farm. The farmer has to be more than a hard worker. He must be an accountant and tax expert. In order to deal with animals he must know more of zoology and animal husbandry. To aid with crops he must be a skilled weatherman, and have knowledge of geology and botany as well. Luck is now a luxury to the modern farmer.

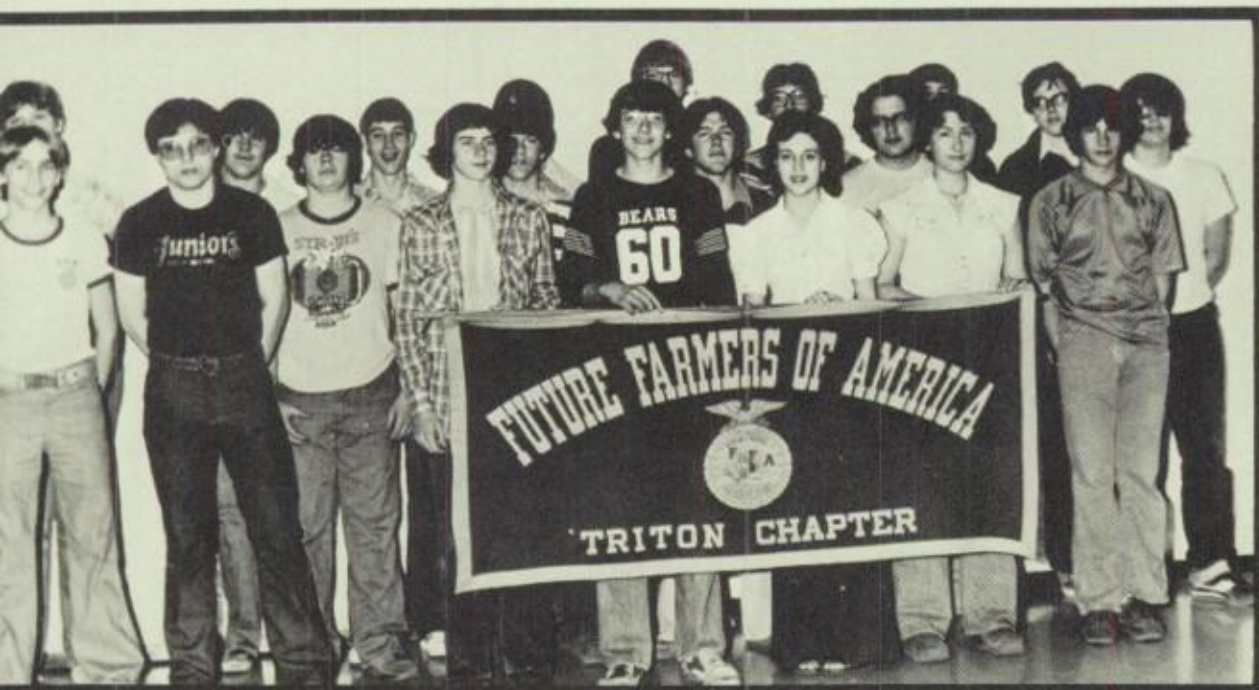

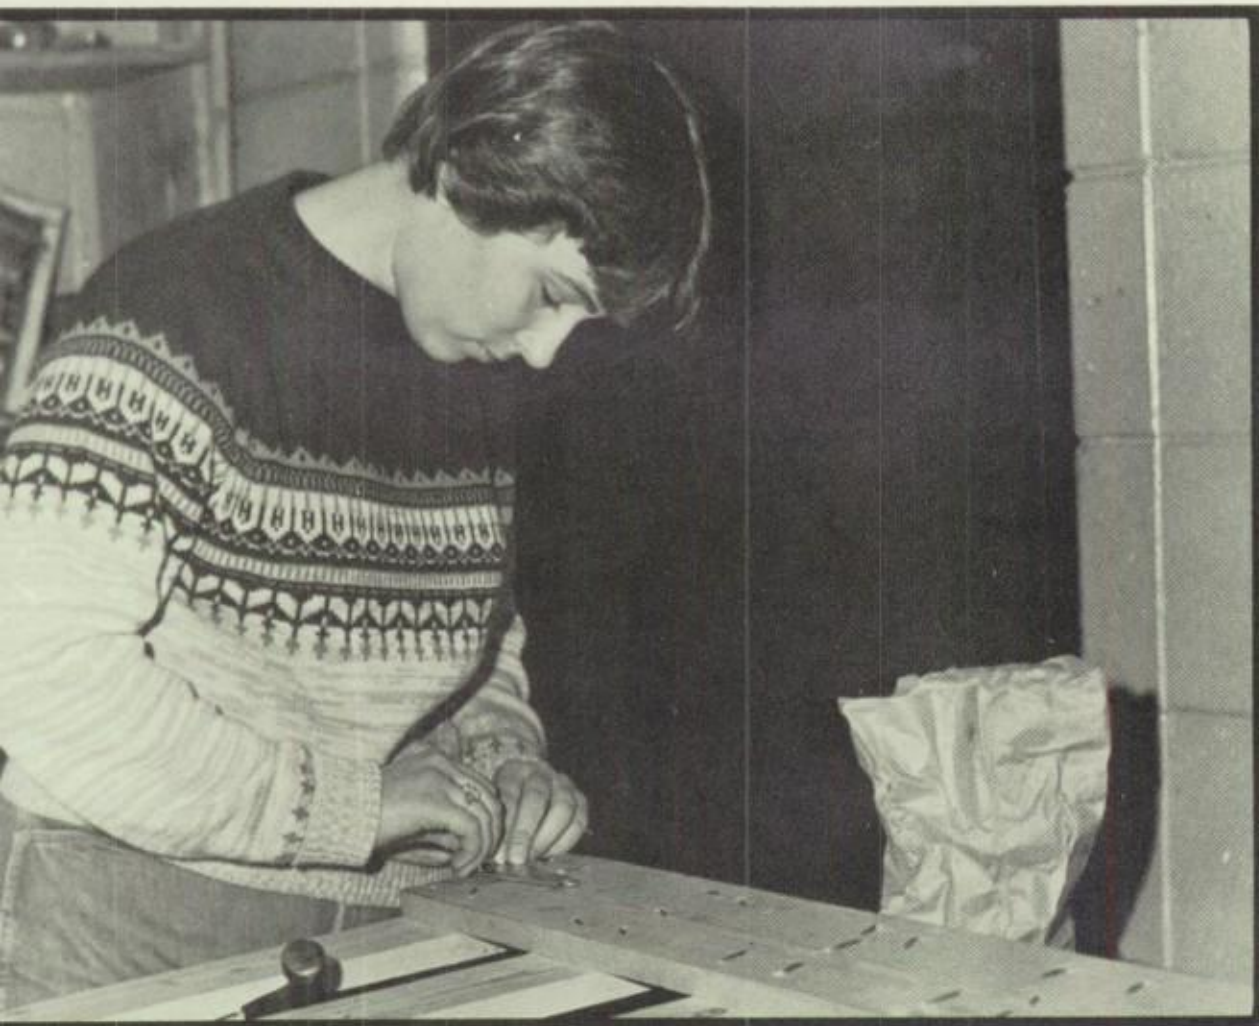

The list of course offerings for Industrial Arts and Agriculture is long. The departments are doing their best from Architectural Design to Animal Science to see that Triton helps produce tomorrow's technicians.

Sewing — And A Lot More

Staystitching, gathering, and topstitching are terms that any clothing student knows well. Between sewing fingers, running out of thread and discovering that the pattern you bought is three sizes too big, the eighth graders manage to sew.

Sewing is just one part of the home economics department. Seventh grade girls are required to take foods. They learn how to set a table, plan a meal and prepare food without poisoning themselves.

For the high school students, there are many classes available. Family living, family health and family management are just a few that are offered. These classes teach ways to cope with many of the problems that families face. They instruct students in ways to prepare a budget and manage a home and family. Another class that is included in this part of home ec is child development. It studies the theories used in the study of children and the development of children from birth to school age.

Juniors and seniors can also take handicraft. They learn crafts that can be used as hobbies. They can choose four crafts and complete projects in all of them. With so many available, such as knitting, crocheting and needle point, almost everyone can find something they enjoy.

It's All In The Game

New dimensions were added to the word "team" this year. Due to disciplinary actions, some players either quit or were removed from the team for breaking the training rules. The following players remained on the team to finish out the season — Barry Sauer, Chuck Sellers and Tim Ganshorn. The following players were moved from B-team to Varsity status — Everett Nifong, Mel

Trowbridge, Curtt Ammerman, Jon Bates, Jack Carpenter, Jeff Deaton, and Wes Runnells. Many tears were shed as the crowd saw the remaining players stick out the last few games. Some students walked out of the games disappointed with the inexperienced playing. However, the majority of the fans supported the revised team and their undying efforts.

On January 26, 1979, many Trojan fans anxiously awaited the final decision for the 1978-79 Homecoming King and Queen. The voice of announcer Todd Kaiser rose in the silent gym. "This year's Homecoming King and Queen . . . Jeff King and Dava Eby." As the crowd cheered them on, Dava was crowned by last year's queen, Penny Berkey.

“Reminiscing”

The Prom of 1979 was conducted on April 21, 1979. Starting at 6:30, the Juniors and Seniors of Triton High and their guests were seated for dinner at Amish Acres in Nappanee. A home-style dinner was served, characteristic of the traditional Amish life. Amidst the rustic setting, dance music was provided by “Bucks.” Though this year was a little different without the Grand March, the Prom got good reports.

The After-Prom, held at the school, seemed to be the highlight of the evening. Entertainment was provided by “The Tradewinds” and hypnotist Elis Swihart. The last of the weary but satisfied Prom goers started home by 4:30.

In the past few years, Triton has produced many fine Junior Miss contestants. One, Miss Terry Kaiser, even went on to become Miss Indiana of 1978. This year was no exception to the rule. Six contestants entered to compete with their talents, which included singing, dancing, comedy, baton twirling, and instruments.

The winner of this year's Jr. Miss competition was Lisa Moore. Lisa also won the Fitness Award and the Talent Award, for which she played the marimba. The first runner-up was Lori Trowbridge, who also won the award for Scholastics. Other contestants were Cheryl Burris, Miss Spirit; Jody Jefferies; Maria Keller; and Lori Redman.

A New Twist

When a course is required for three years, such as English, teachers often have a difficult time finding projects to keep up student interest. One way the Composition classes are kept interested is the ever present hope that one of their works may be published in the ANEID, Triton's very own literary magazine. The ANEID is composed entirely of student writings from the freshman thru senior classes. A new twist was added to the Comp. and Practical English classes with the arrival of Mrs. Hepler and a student teacher, Miss Eckleberry, a graduate of Grace College majoring in both French and English. Another of the undertakings of the Comp. I classes is the annual research paper due at the end of the semester. With this, students are seen burying themselves in library books and carrying large stacks of index cards.

As for sophomores the required Speech/Literature course always proves challenging with the many speeches throughout the year. Among these are the demonstration speech and the popular commercials that are video taped and later played back for the enjoyment of the class.

Freshmen learn new grammar rules and get a taste of Shakespear with the yearly reading of Romeo and Juliet. Writing skills are also developed as students are given a chance to try their hand at poetry.

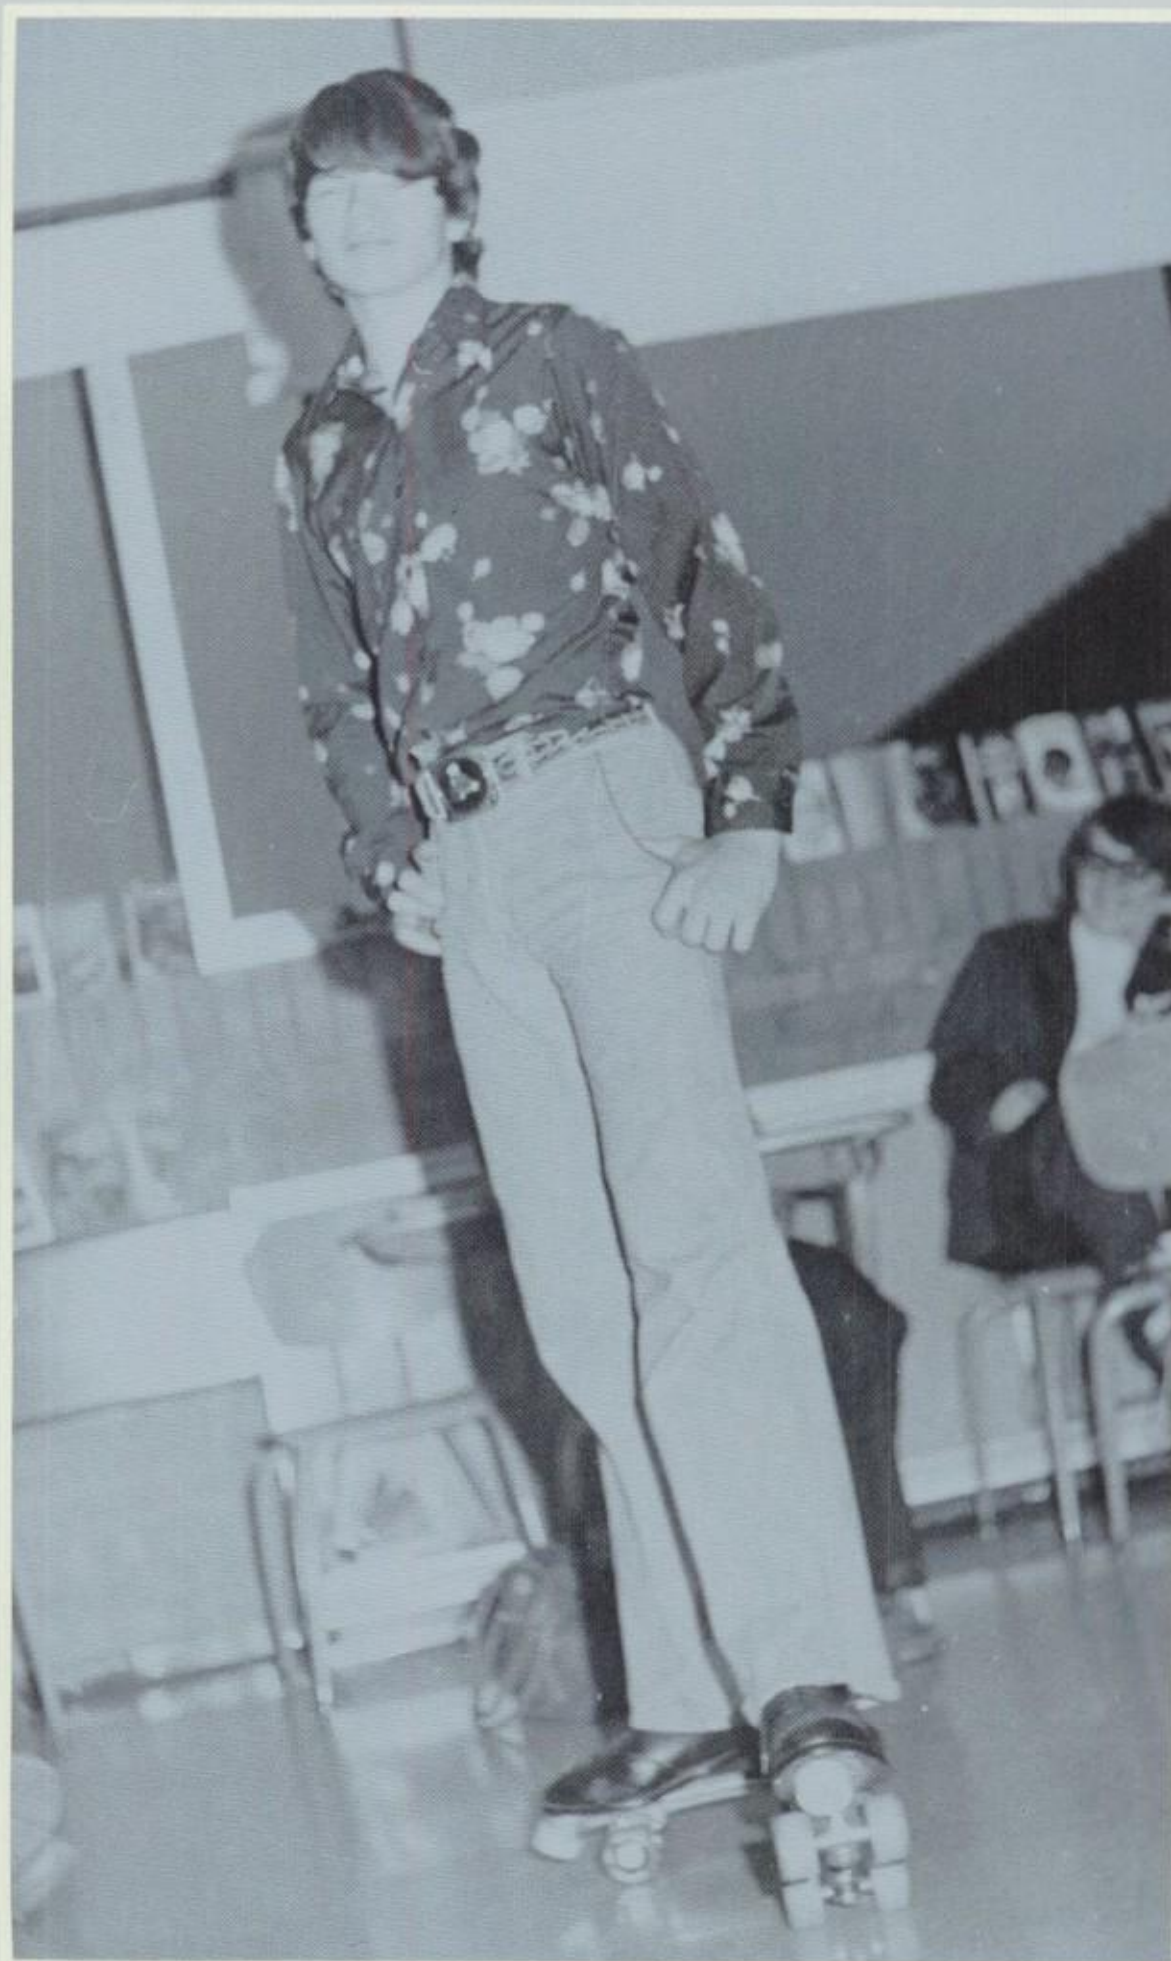

On the senior level, Comp. II and Modern Novel are offered. Comp. students further develop basic writing skills taught in Comp. I and delve deeper into writing on their own.

History — Year Of Decision

Term papers, book reports, bad jokes and the dreaded pop quiz are just a few of the things that make up this years' Social Studies Department. With the many varied classes that are offered, there is sure to be something that almost everyone will like. If you are a student whose interest lies in area and land studies, Geography is available. If you would like to learn about Europe and Asia as well as the United States, there is World History with it's student reports on countries, governments and current events.

The Juniors are required to take U.S. History and even though it might be a little tedious taking notes all the time, Mr. King is always ready with a joke or two to help break up the monotony.

Two other classes that are favorites with many students are Sociology and Psychology. These two classes often conduct surveys and experiments among the student body. One such experiment that the Psychology class conducted was to see how fast a rumor would spread throughout the school building. Of course, by the end of the day almost everyone knew about it, which proved to the class that bad news does travel fast.

Inflation Hits Triton

If you were to walk by the typing rooms you may see such sights as students typing to music. These exercises help students to gain consistency and rhythm along with speed. As for Typing II, these students aim for accuracy and speed, as well as learning basic office practice guidelines as taught by Mrs. Mason.

In Accounting, students learn everything from writing checks to managing a business. Along with these studies students are given practice sets which may take up to a week to complete and dozens of erasers.

Students who participate in shorthand and notehand classes must learn a whole new alphabet. This new way of writing helps students to write and to take dictation much faster. Many of the students involved in these classes go on in their business training to later become secretaries and legal assistants.

With the ever shrinking dollar and the high cost of living many students find it hard to keep up with the rising rate of inflation. Although the business courses can do nothing to stop inflation, they do provide a way to teach students to cope with it.

Sign Of The Times

One required course for seniors is Government. This class helps the students to better understand the different forms of local, state, and national governments and the parts they, as adults, will play in them.

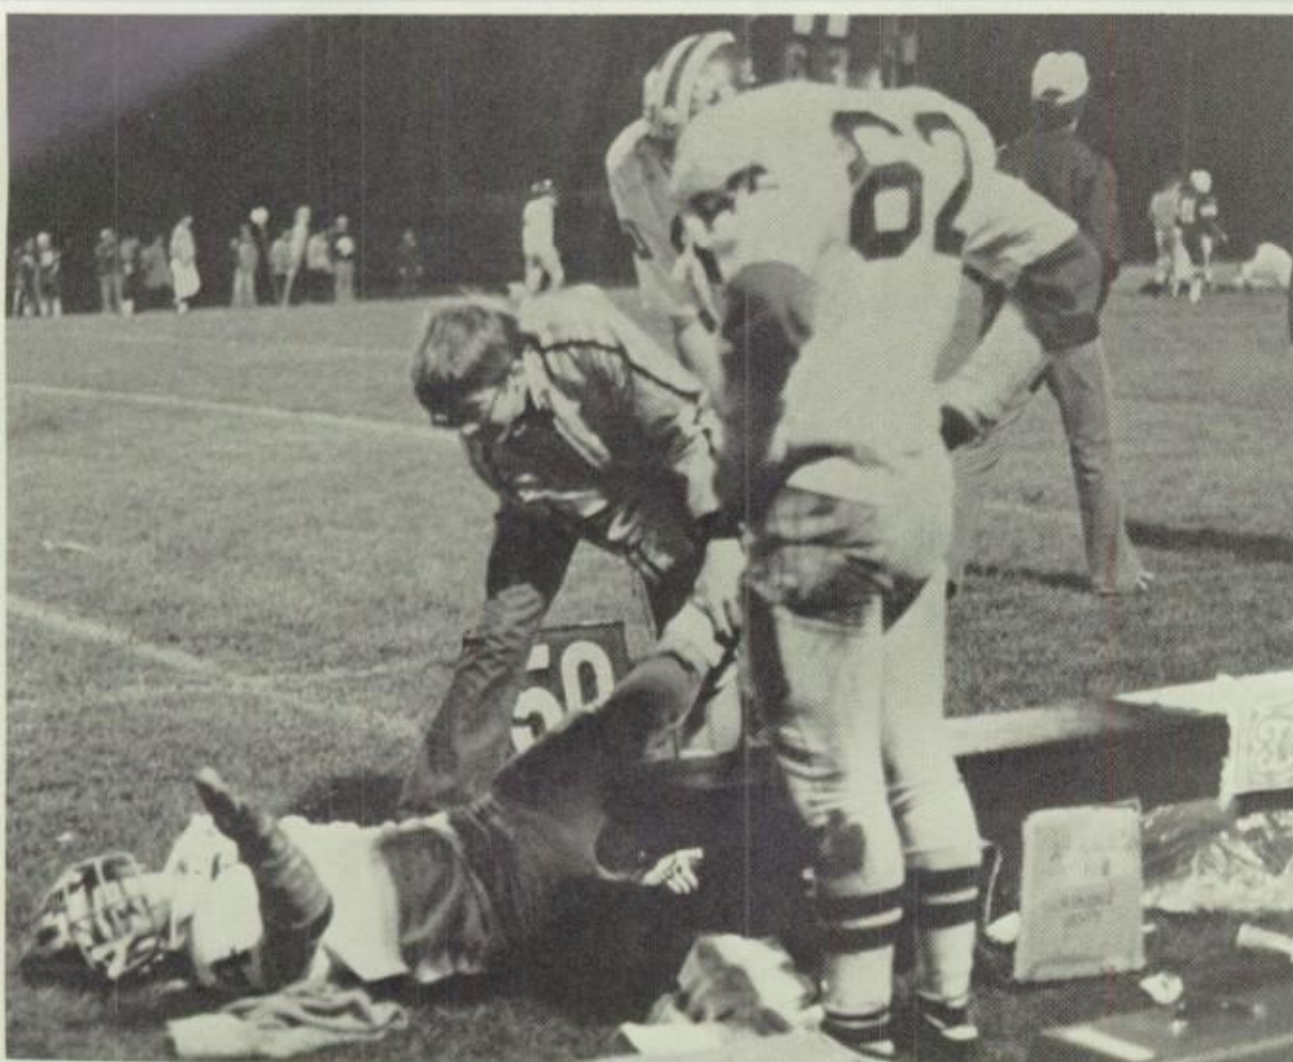

Government classes also give the students a chance to discuss the current happenings of the world.

One of the projects that is assigned every year is a five to ten page term paper. The term paper can be written on such topics as famous people in government, famous events in American history, social and economic problems and space exploration just to name a few.

A new teacher, Mrs. Bengé, has done a fine job this year in taking over Government. Mrs. Bengé, a graduate of Ball State University, makes the class very interesting.

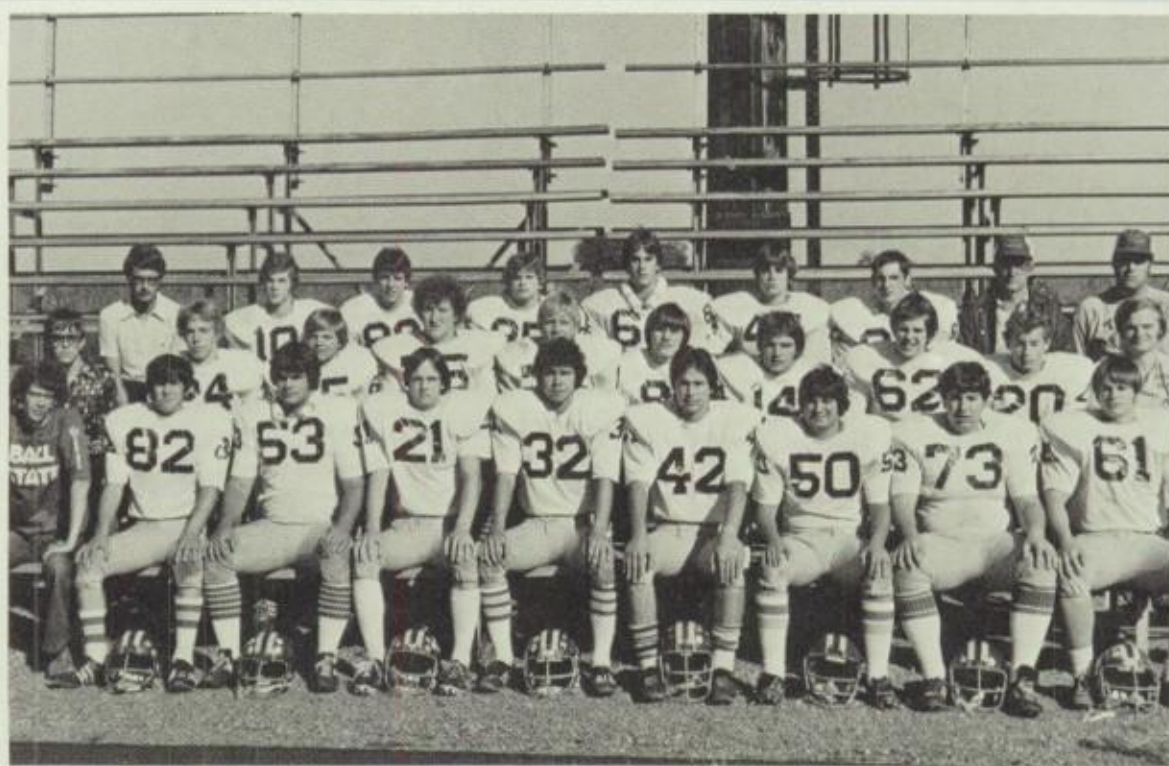

Triton Gridders Meet Their Match

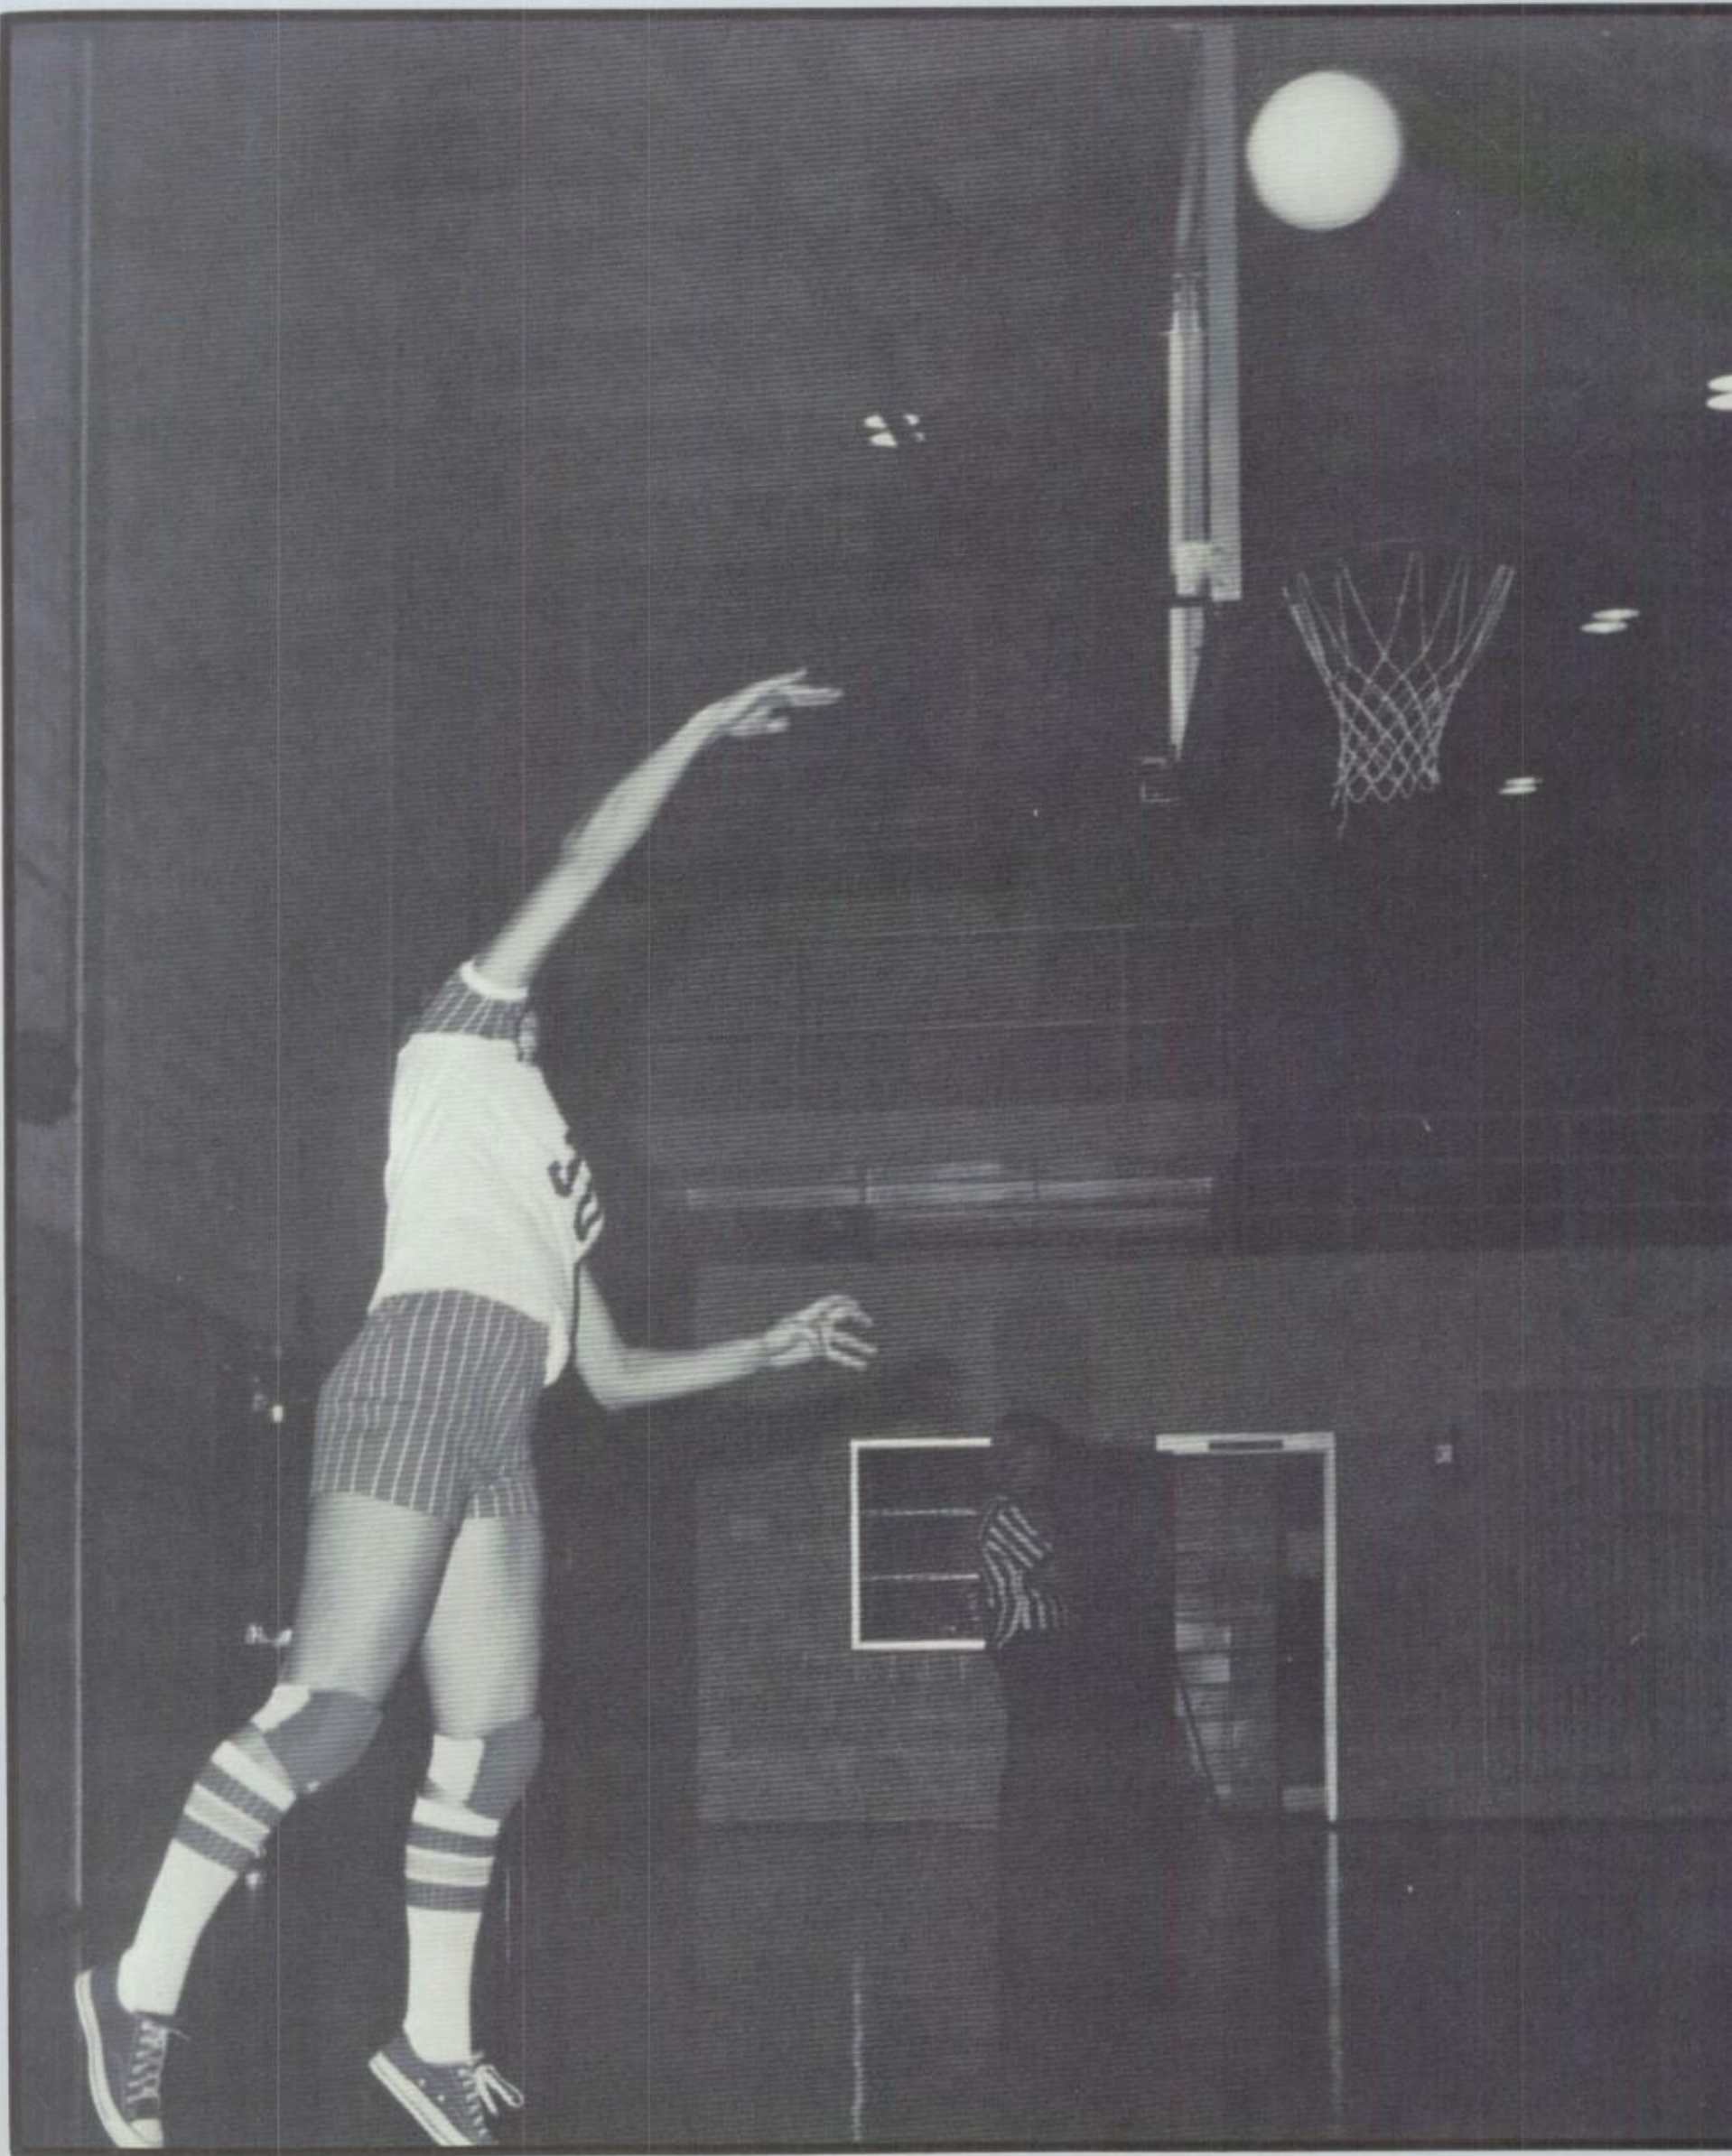

Triton's varsity football team, coached by Mr. Bruce Etnyre, ploughed through the 1978 football season with a 4-5 record.

Although the scores were not high, spirit soared throughout the games. Even during the last game of the season, North Miami, while trailing in the third quarter, the players hung on to their unrelenting spirit and won the game, 25 to 14.

Even though the team had a slow season, three members received the honor of being chosen for the TRC All-Conference team. Dave Mitchell, Rich Brunk and Chuck Sellers received these honors. Two other players, Randy Shirey and Brent Morris received honorable mention.

Triton's varsity and Junior varsity volleyball teams had a rough year. The varsity team had a 7-10 season while the junior varsity went 3-10 throughout their games. Even though the season was an uneventful one, the Trojans went to the semi-finals of the Plymouth Volleyball sectional, where they won against Culver Community and lost against Bremen. The most valuable player on the varsity team for the 1978 volleyball season was Jayne Coplen.

P.E. To The Rescue

Sometimes the routine of sitting in classes all day can get a little boring.

Something that helps break up the monotony of the day is physical education. It's one class that builds muscles as well as minds. When Junior High students are first introduced to such scary looking pieces of equipment as the balance beam, trampoline and uneven bars, they might be a little unsure of themselves. They soon get used to them, however and start to enjoy themselves.

Everyone has their favorite, but the trampoline continues to be enjoyed by almost everyone.

One thing that isn't enjoyed quite as well is "instant agony". This involves sit ups, push ups, peg board, and running among other things. All of these events are timed and after two days of this, it's easy to tell the phys. ed. students, they're the ones who limp down the halls. Many students say that they have sore muscles where they didn't even know they had muscles before.

As the weather continues to get nicer, there will be softball, track, golf and other outside activities to keep the students busy.

One thing every Triton athlete has to have to be successful in sports is practice. "Practice is necessary to maintain physical well-being and improve skills in your sport.", says Janet Garrett, a Triton tennis player. Most athletes agree that practice is a bother, but is essential for excellence in your sport. Some athletes go farther than organized practices, such as summer sports camps with individualized training for each entrant.

Trojan Spirit!!

At home or away, any team member can tell you how important an enthusiastic crowd is. That's where such organizations as the Pep Block and Matmaids come in. Following their teams faithfully, these groups do a lot in supporting them and promoting a winning spirit throughout a game. Even with some of this year's discouraging problems, the crowd stuck with the teams and showed them that they back them one hundred percent.

Anyone can yell and cheer their team on at an athletic competition but who organizes and leads most of these cheers? . . . OUR CHEERLEADERS! These cheerleaders could be considered one of Triton's athletic teams. Besides the necessity of being in top shape and having strong lungs, cheerleaders also need good grades and an outgoing personality. They have to be able to plan original pep sessions and, most importantly, keep spirit running throughout the season. With a crowded gym following their lead, the cheerleaders do more than their part to back our teams.

Go Big Blue!

The 1978 Summer Marching Band was a new experience for even the older members of the Trojan Band. Under the leadership of new director, Mr. Robert Krehely, the band managed to keep in competition in many local parades. The marching band was slightly smaller than before but, as usual, when school picks up, so does Band enrollment.

As in the summer, the band is out in the parking lot during football season, going over and over the routine for the next football game. They usually have one week to learn the music AND be able to march to it. On the last morning or so, it's out to the football field with pant legs rolled up to protect them from the wet, dew-touched grass. Out in front of the band are the Pom-pom girls and flag corp putting the finishing touches on their routine.

Again as basketball season nears, game tunes filter out from the band room through the halls. Under the direction of either the band director, Mr. Krehely, or Majorette Jayne Coplen, the band provides for a musical half-time.

"Tomorrow Is Just One Of Yesterday's Dreams"

"The time is upon us, today is forever, tomorrow is just one of yesterday's dreams." This quote from John Denver was used for a class motto for the Class of '79.

On May 20, 1979, at 2:30 in the afternoon, Commencement exercises began in the Triton High School gym. Seventyseven of the seventy-nine class members assembled for perhaps the last time as a class. They had reached the turning point of their lives where they would have to use all of the knowledge they had accumulated over the twelve years of their high school careers.

The Class of '79 has entered a new beginning, though it may be separately, and are now on their way to their "Yesterday's Dreams."

Oscar, Felix, and the rest of the gang were at Triton High School March 9 & 10 for the Triton Drama Club's presentation of "The Odd Couple."

Oscar Madison is a slob, living alone after being divorced several years earlier. Felix Unger is neat as a pin. He is kicked out by his wife and moves in with Oscar. The first part of the play is about how they, Felix and Oscar, try to put up with each other. Apparently, they can not, because Oscar kicks

Felix out, also. As Murray (Jim Archambeault) would say, "It's not your fault, Oscar, It's Felix, he does it to himself."

There are also two girls in the play, Gwendolyn and Cecily. The end of the play revolves around Felix's decision to move in with them.

The T.V. show, The Odd Couple, was a big success, for it ran for eight years. It starred Jack Klugman, as Oscar Madison, and Tony Randall as Felix Unger.

"My dad took me up when I was a little kid," says Mary Alice Grossman. So you see she has been flying all her life. She knows how to fly a plane too. She flies a 182 Cessna. She says she enjoys flying and hopes to take lessons and get a private pilots license in the future.

When asked, "how does it feel to fly a plane?" Mary Alice replied, "It's hard to describe, but I love it."

Curt Kreft, sophomore, has been running since seventh grade. He started track that year and joined cross country in eighth grade. He has received medals, trophies, and ribbons.

In addition to all this running, he has to put up with his pain. He has a defect called a split spine. But he comments, "Pain is no limit to me." He proves this by running in road races every week.

Curt was asked if he would be breaking any records in the future. He replied, "I will run, I will break records, I hope."

Freshman playing Varsity football? That's Chris Brunk. He plans to continue his football career all the way through high school. He says he thinks of "hope," when he sees those big guys coming at him.

His comment on future football teams here at Triton was, "They'll be little, but they'll do okay."

The Jr. High Contraption is a new addition to our Jr. High this year. The Contraption is a newspaper put together by a staff of editors and writers, along with help of Mr. Gould and Mrs. Conaway. The staff members were recommended by teachers. The paper comes out whenever an issue is completed. The cost is a quarter an issue. Included in the paper are teacher interviews, movie polls, and an advice column entitled: Grandma Tilly. Most say they find this article their favorite.

The eighth graders hope this idea will be carried on. They feel the Jr. High needs more activities.

A new building, new classes, adjusting to new time periods and worst of all no recess.

Going into the 7th grade is a new experience for everyone. Sometimes it's scary, sometimes frustrating, but it's always kind of exciting. It's hard to go from the oldest in the school to the youngest, but everyone lives through it, then before you know it, you are all ready for eighth grade with "The first year" behind you.

On The State And Local Scene

Kaiser Goes To Atlantic City

July, 1978

Terry Kaiser daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kaiser of Etna Green and a 1974 Triton graduate was crowned Miss Indiana last summer in Michigan City. After the state contest Terry advanced to the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, New Jersey. In an interview with Terry, she commented on how she appreciated all of the support she had received from the community during the course of the summer and her special appearances throughout the state.

After her reign, Terry plans on returning to college where she is studying law.

Bourbon Man Shot During Robbery

The people of Bourbon were shocked at the killing of one of the local merchants in March. Claude Yarian who owned the local news stand was brutally gunned down in his yard as his wife Ann sat in the car waiting for him to open the door. In May the four men who were responsible for Mr. Yarian's death were captured.

Probe Continues

August, 1978

Three teenage Goshen girls lost their lives in a fiery crash involving a 1973 Ford Pinto and a van, causing a Grand Jury investigation into the safety of Ford Pintos. The car was one of 1.5 million Pinto and Mercury Bobcat sedans built between 1971 and 1976 that Ford announced in June would be recalled because a National Highway Traffic Safety Administration report said that they were too susceptible to explosion in rear end collisions.

Elkhart County Prosecutor Michael Consentino issued a summons to Henry Ford II and former president of Ford, Lee Iacocca, in order to bring about an investigation and possible charges of criminal recklessness against the Ford Motor Company.

In September, an Elkhart County Grand Jury indicted the Ford Motor Company on one count of criminal recklessness and three counts of reckless homicide.

Tests on Pintos like the one involved in the Goshen accident were made by National Safety Commissions and were found to explode in crashes involving as low speeds as 15 m.p.h. At least thirteen crashes involving Pintos have occurred between 1976 and 1977, all ending in fatal fiery ends.

In April 1979, an Elkhart Superior judge granted Ford a change of venue involving the trial of the company and ordered the case not be tried in St. Joseph, Marshall, Kosciusko, Noble, or LaGrange counties of Indiana.

Indiana Hit By Hard Winter

Indiana was struck hard by another fierce winter as Mother Nature unleashed her fury. In January, snows came leaving motorists stranded for days while many people were stuck in their homes with minimal amounts of food.

Winter was uncommonly bad all over the U.S. as record lows were recorded in southern states and record snow falls fell in the midwest.

Chicago had the worst winter on record as motorists were stranded for up to a week and all air traffic came to a standstill. O'Hare Field was closed more than once during the winter a record in itself.

We'd like to take this opportunity to thank all the people who helped us to make this year go smoothly. We'd also like to thank our advertisers and our patrons because without them we wouldn't have a yearbook.
